Featured Houseplant:

This week's featured houseplant is the Easter Lily! A beautiful spring-blooming flower, the pure-white lily has come to represent Easter- however these flowers are native to Japan (also known as Bermuda lilies) and were introduced to the U.S. in the 1880s. They prefer cool temperatures around 65° F during the day and cooler at night. They love bright, indirect light and want only the first inch of soil to go dry between watering.
